COURT RULES KY. ROAD BILL IS NOT VALID

Appellate Decision Affirms Franklin Circuit Court Judgment Which Held Legislature Has No Authority to Name Commission.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 16.—The Simmons road department reorganization bill passed by the 1922 General Assembly was declared unconstitutional by the Court of Appeals Friday.

The higher court affirmed the judgment of the Franklin circuit court.

The lower court declared the law unconstitutional on the grounds that the Legislature did not have the authority to name the members of the proposed highway commission, as this was an executive function.

All the judges of the Court of Appeals concurred in the opinion, which was written by Judge Gus Thomas, with the exception of Judge Rogers Clay, who dissented.

The road bill was held unconstitutional on the same issue decided in the Franklin circuit court. Judge Thomas held that the Legislature did not have the right to name the commission.

"To adopt the latitudinous construction that the Legislature may do anything expressly or impliedly prohibited by the constitution would, to our minds, at once destroy the separation of the powers of government into three great departments," the opinion stated.

In the dissenting opinion Judge Clay said that while the constitution could not provide that one department could not exercise any power properly belonging to another, that "it is an entirely different thing to define with accuracy the line of demarcation which separates these departments one from the other." He also held that if it is the law that the appointment to office is an executive function, then "the Legislature is without authority to elect a state librarian or confer on the legislative boards of our cities the power to appoint certain municipal officers."

CENTENNIAL COINS WILL BE WITHDRAWN

Remainder Will Be Returned to Mint February For Recoinage—Banks Offering Them.

Notification by the Grand Centennial Committee that banks still have memorial coins for sale, and that these coins make ideal Christmas presents, has quickened the sale of them. There has been a continual sale of the coins since the centennial ceremonies were held. Out of an issue of $100,000 half dollars there still remain about 20,000 unsold. The price for the regular issue is one dollar each. The coin bearing the star is one dollar and fifty cents.

"Buy these coins now," Judge Nichols said, Friday. "They will make good Christmas presents and at the same time it will help a most commendable cause."

After February 1st they will not be obtainable. The committee will then call in all coins at the banks and return them to the mint, that they may be withdrawn for circulation.

CHRISTMAS FIRE WARNING ISSUED BY FIRE AUTHORITIES

Fire Prevention Department Issues Annual Warning Against Fire At Christmas Time.

The following official notice issued by the department of Fire Prevention at Frankfort:

At Christmas time, many people are so engrossed with the idea of entertainment and amusement for their children, that they are forgetful of the dangers that accompany these entertainments.

Picture the family reunion. Gathered around the annual Christmas tree—children, grandchildren, nieces, nephews, cousins and all—the tree with its many decorations, its lighting effects, its imitation snow, tinsel, the presents for all—and Santa Claus with his white frock and flowing beard—when suddenly a flash, and the fire—fire appears. Someone has been careless and the accident occurs. Some little fellow hopelessly scarred for life—or maybe the loss of life. The happy scene is changed without warning to one of sorrow, misery and despair.

There, is a Christmas, the horror of which is forever burned into the memory and hearts of those who but a short time before were so gay and carefree. A family reunion that will never be forgotten. But always the darkness of death or accident in the background. The family with a home gone, a loved one burned, that scene that began so happily, changed in a moment to one of horror and distress.

Lit candles, on trees in connection with paper tinsel and celluloid decorations, the same on electric lights or light wires, dried holly or mistletoe on gas light, or electric fixtures, and their wires, any of these might be the cause of the above picture.

These Christmas time pleasures and programs may be so arranged as to preclude the possibility of any such tragedy occurring in the home. Proper supervision of the children, and a little care in preparing the decorations will accomplish this result.

This department requests that all people throughout the state of Kentucky bear these facts in mind in preparing their Yuletide festivities. To that end we extend heartiest greetings and good cheer to all throughout the state, praying that not a single calamity of the kind pictured above may be the part of any resident of this great state. To that extent, we ask your co-operation.

OUTLAW GANG LEADER AND OFFICER DEAD

Ballard Gang Is Captured in Manifee Mountains But Another Prohibition Officer Is Killed Making Death of Three.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 15.—A week of skirmishes between moonshiners and Federal prohibition agents in the hills of Menifee county, which resulted in the killing of three agents and one moonshiner and the wounding of another outlaw, was ended tonight.

A posse of 20 agents was returning from the hill country tonight with five prisoners.

Robert Ballard, reputed leader of the outlaws, was shot to death this morning. Guy Cole, the third Government man killed, fell in today's battle. Charles Ballard, brother of the slain leader, was wounded, but escaped.

Members of the outlaw band captured by the posse were: Jeff Ballard, father, and Albert Ballard, brother of the slain leader; William Ferguson, Joseph Clem and Elwood Riffe.

The smashing of the "Ballard gang" by Federal men followed a week of hill-country campaigning, marked by three spectacular gun battles.

The drawn-out battle was inaugurated last Saturday, when R. E. Duff, agent, was shot to death while leading a party of raiders against a cave used by the outlaws as a still site.

The following day a large posse of Federal agents and deputy sheriffs went into the hills, but returned after David Treadway, deputized by Federal authorities, was slain by hidden riflemen.

The large posse was disbanded following Treadway's death and Federal operatives adopted "under-cover" methods to locate their men.

This morning a picked force of 20 agents moved upon a cabin where the Ballards had taken up headquarters. The ensuing fight at the cabin was the last stand of the outlaws.

PREMIER UPHELD.

Paris, Dec. 16.—Despite efforts of his political opponents in the Chamber of Deputies to make the breakdown of the premiers' conference at London an excuse to overthrow Premier Raymond Poincare was more firmly in the saddle than ever today, strengthened by an overwhelming vote of confidence given him by the Chamber last night.

EXPLOSIVES ON STREETS TO BE PROHIBITED

Chief of Police Mackey Issues Orders For Strict Enforcement of Explosives Law in Maysville.

Following many complaints of the reckless handling of explosives on the streets in various parts of the city, Chief of Police James Mackey Saturday afternoon issued orders to all of his men to strictly enforce the city ordinance and state law prohibiting the use of explosives in any form on the city streets.

Complaints filed with the police were to the effect that young men were firing blank pistols, cap pistols and other forms of explosives in the faces of persons on the streets and Chief Mackey ordered his men to confiscate any pistols found on the streets and take them to the police headquarters.

These orders are not taken to mean that the officials will not permit Christmas celebration by the use of explosives but it means that a careless use of dangerous explosives on the streets will not be permitted.

DIVORCED WIFE SEEKS TO COLLECT ALIMONY HERE.

Mrs. Nettie Marie Bradford brought suit against the Bank of Maysville and Henry Collins Bradford in the Mason Circuit Court Saturday. She states in her petition that she was granted a divorce in the Common Pleas court for Brown county, Ohio, a few days ago against the defendant, Henry Collins Bradford and was awarded alimony in the sum of $5,000. The petition states that the defendant Bradford has a trust fund in the Bank of Maysville. Both parties are residents of the Aberdeen neighborhood.

SEVERAL CASES SET FOR TRIAL MONDAY.

GRAND JURY IS CALLED INTO THE RENAKER CASE

Members of Last Grand Jury Called to Testify in Murder Case—Jury May Get Case on Monday or Tuesday.

Winchester, Ky., Dec. 16.—The city was on tiptoe today in expectation of what the September grand jury will say when put on the stand as witnesses for the prosecution in the trial of Scobee Hardman, charged with the murder of Leon Renaker, "turkey king", last summer.

The prosecution threw a jolt into the defense at last night's session when Herbert H. Moore, county attorney, charged Clyde Douglas, brother-in-law of Hardman, with having reversed his story. Moore charged Douglas with having changed his story to him a few days ago.

Douglas testified he did not know whether Hardman was at the Douglas' home between midnight and 6 a. m. the night of the murder, as Hardman claims. Moore announced he would call the grand jury to confound Douglas' denial of the alleged contradiction.

It was hoped by the court and attorneys that the taking of testimony would be completed by tonight, but indications now are that this cannot be done. There will be no Sunday session. Predictions now are that the case will not go into final arguments until late Monday or Tuesday.

Attorneys said they expected each side to be allowed from four to six hours for final arguments.

TWO WOMEN ARE AMONG SPEEDERS SENT TO JAIL.

Los Angeles, Dec. 16.—Fourteen traffic law violators, two of them women, began jail sentences here today. Mrs. Ruth Pettibone, found guilty of running down a pedestrian about an hour after she had been arrested for speeding, was sentenced to serve two terms of ten days each, one for speeding and one for reckless driving. Miss Hortense Cosen received a three-day sentence for speeding when she was brought into court after failing to appear when her case was called, yesterday. Of the 12 other offenders, two were sentenced to jail for 30 days.

HITCHCOCK WANTED US IN THIS COMPANY

Is the Senator Hitchcock who just made the startling expose of the horrors of French rule in the Rhineland the same Senator Hitchcock who wept tears for bleeding France as he pleaded for our entry into the league of nations and supported the tripartite alliance? Or is this a Senator Hitchcock chastened back to sanity by the defeat in November?

The disclosures made by Senator Hitchcock concerning the viciousness of the Moroccan, Algerian, and Tunisian troops quartered by the French government in the Rhine towns of Germany are sickening in their nature. They comprise the high lights in Hitchcock's retort to Clemenceau, who had pricked the skin of the Nebraska Senator with his statement that Hitchcock "is in the Senate, owing to the vote, for only a few more days." Hitchcock presented to the Senate exhaustive testimony concerning the assaults perpetrated on German women by these colored troops. He quoted figures of very recent date showing that 23,000 of these troops were maintained by the French Government in Germany, in answer to Clemenceau's assurances that "there was not a single black soldier in German territory." He went farther and gave the town, street and number, of brothels maintained for the use of these troops on the demand of French military and administrative authorities, the date of their establishment, and the cost of building and expenses incurred. "White women are taken and put into these houses for the use of these half-civilized blacks," declared Mr. Hitchcock. "The cost had to be paid by the German Government, or by the localities when the German Government so required. The people of Germany have been taxed to maintain those institutions in those towns and to keep white women in them." The Senator expressed his conviction that "the German authorities were glad to have them established, in a feeble attempt to protect their women."

Hitchcock makes a fierce assault on French reputation in what seems to be a splenic answer to the maladroit propaganda which M. Clemenceau has been carrying on and which has resulted in infinite embarrassment to the French Government. But the paradox of Hitchcockian attitude is to be found in the fact that just a few months ago the Nebraska Senator was the color-bearer for the league of nations and the woes and perils of France were part of his stock-in-trade in urging our entry into that organization.

Article 23 of the league covenant (paragraph e) "entrusts the league with general supervision over the execution of agreements with regard to the traffic in women and children." On the face of the evidence presented by Senator Hitchcock not an individual nor a ring, nor a cadet system, but a great government, a member of the league of nations, has compelled a vanquished nation to furnish buildings and bodies for the most iniquitous traffic known to civilization. And yet Mr. Hitchcock would have had the United States enter into a co-partnership with a nation engaged in this thing?

It is to be hoped that the testimony to which Mr. Hitchcock gave credence by publication may find adequate rebuttal. It is difficult to believe these charges against a sister nation. If they are substantiated, the government responsible is beyond the pale, and until it has purged itself it is unworthy of association with those nations which stand for decency. These are harsh words, but who will refute them, if the facts are as alleged? But what of Senator Hitchcock and his league of nations obsession?

"FAIR" FOR OTHER NATIONS

The so-called "Fair Tariff League," which is opposed to a protective tariff, boasts that it started the recent campaign by directly equipping 375 spellbinders with data for use in attacking protection candidates throughout the country. No we understand in some measure how so many men favored by foreign industrial interests managed to get elected on a showing of relatively small campaign expenses. There was rejoicing in Europe over the success of the "Fair Tariff League" in its effort to discredit an "America First" tariff.

COMMENT

Maysville's main system of streets will never be complete until Forest avenue is paved. When business is again normal and prices are fair, the city and county should be together on asphaltting this thoroughfare from Commerce to Carmel streets and continuing out the Mt. Carmel road from the foot of Forest avenue to the entrance to the Maysville cemetery.

Our friend "Billy" Wheeler is on the anxious seat for it looks very much as if he is going to have to eat his Christmas dinner at the jail without a boarder. Only one prisoner whose time expires in a few days and the city and county both on their good behavior.

The Augusta newspapers are suggesting all sorts of improvements for their town. Augusta is a mighty fine sort of town with several industries of considerable proportions and should be a town of considerable importance. It has a citizenship of clever and progressive people.

Mayor Lew Shanks, of Indianapolis, has personally arrested several speeders in his campaign against reckless driving, who he says are suffering from a form of insanity. Mayor Shanks threatens to put those arrested for speeding in the insanity ward at the jail with a charge of insanity against them. No appearance bond is permissible in insanity cases.

This is the season of the year when John wants to do the chores two or three times a day and Mary thinks that dish washing is entirely too hard work for mother. After December 25th things are entirely different, however.

A colored woman evangelist claims to have had ninety dollars stolen from her stocking while at the altar in a revival meeting at Dover a few nights ago. There are several things about this story that are strange. Who ever thought an itinerant preacher had that much money at one time and then what business has any one—but then the money has never been replaced as yet.

Our readers will notice that because of the nearness of Christmas our advertising space is being crowded and we are therefore somewhat short on news but we can assure all our readers that they are missing nothing of great importance because there is little going on in this section just now and then too, Christmas advertising is the best sort of news at this season of the year. Read the advertisements carefully and patronize the live merchants.

Our Daily Poem

WHAT IS SUNSHINE?

A little gold amidst the gray—
That's sunshine;
A little brightness of the way—
That's sunshine;
A little spreading of the blue,
A little heaven breaking through—
That's sunshine.
A little looking for the light—
That's sunshine;
A little patience through the night—
That's sunshine;
A little bowing of the will,
A little resting on the hill,
A little standing very still—
That's sunshine.
A little smiling through the tears—
That's sunshine;
A little faith behind the fears—
That's sunshine;
A little folding of the hand,
A little yielding of demand,
A little grace to understand—
That's sunshine.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS AMONG HIS FRIENDS AND FOES.

Luke 10:38-11:54

(By C. H. RAYL.)

The connection between the story of the Samaritan and the incident at Bethany which immediately follows it in the narrative of Luke is not apparent. It has been suggested that the evangelist inserts the Bethany incident here as a further answer to the question, "What must I do to inherit eternal life?" Mere benevolence, such as that of the Samaritan is not enough. It must be combined with and grow out of that sweet and blessed habitual fellowship with God. "The enthusiasm of humanity," if divorced from the love of God, is likely to degenerate into mere serving of tables. Whether this was or was not Luke's motive in putting the two stories together, their juxtaposition illustrates the fullness and breadth of Jesus' thought.

The most striking aspect of the visit of Jesus to the home at Bethany is the contrast of character and mind between the sisters, Martha and Mary. Jesus' answer to Martha's appeal that he bid Mary leave his side and help her with the housework has been variously interpreted as a rebuke to Martha for her exaggerated attention to the less important interests of life, or as an impartial adjudication of two types of service equally accepted to the Master. Whichever interpretation be accepted, Jesus appears in the affair as a friend among His friends. It indicates the broad range of His circle of friendship and the possibilities of friendly ministry to Him. It shows also how easily His friends may misunderstand and exclude one another from the circle to which they belong.

From this incident Luke's narrative, with some disregard for the time element, not unusual in him, turns to an earlier one, namely the giving of the so-called "Lord's Prayer" followed by an exposition of Jesus' view of prayer and its place in the kingdom of God.

THE FURNITURE MAN

MAYSVILLE, KY

The thought moves in the realm of intimacy. Prayer both as offered and as heard and answered is the expression of mutual confidence and regard as between man and God.

But the section on prayer is followed by the recital of some facts bringing into view the adverse attitude of some men toward Jesus. The first of these was the casting out of a demon. Jesus' enemies attributed this miracle to a league with the chief of the demonic hosts. The bad logic of this judgment seems to have totally escaped the attention of the critics. Jesus asks them to note two flaws in their argument. The first is that applied to the general work of casting out demons prevalent among the Jews of the day the same principle would condemn all exorcists to the category of allies with Beelzebub. "If I by Beelzebub cast out demons, by whom do your sons cast them out?"

The second logical flaw in the thought of his critics pointed out by Jesus is in the argument itself. The judgment that he cast out demons by an alliance with the prince of demons is self-contradictory. That Beelzebub should give such power to a man is unthinkable, for it would divide his own house and cause its collapse.

But illogical as it was, the thought of Jesus' critics represents a universal effort of mankind to explain some facts of life which demand explanation. God makes himself felt in power and in goodness. Jesus was bent on impressing upon men the goodness of God.

When they failed to learn the lesson he was grieving. And when they perverted the meaning of the signs of God's goodness He became indignant and denounced those guilty of the perversion.

The last incident of the series shows Jesus' enemies as objectors to his disregard of the minute prescriptions of ceremonial. Against the ceremonial itself Jesus has nothing to say. He seems to endorse it by "These things ought we to have done." As a remedy for the objection he would encourage one to seek a well-balanced spiritual life out of which love flows without pretension.

A BIG WESTERN PHOTOPLAY.

Coming to the Pastime theater Monday is one of the finest and most thrilling western photoplay productions seen in this city for a long time. It is entitled "Headin' North," featuring Pete Morrison, the cowboy who furnishes more action to every thousand feet of film than a half dozen of the average film stars.

"Headin' North" has unusual class as a western photoplay, due to its star and story. It is not the "shoot-em-up" type of western film but a logical dramatic story of life staged among the pines, the plains and the mountains of the far west as it is today. It is evenly balanced with the very tensest of action and drama, all revolving around a plot and story chock full of romance, adventure and intrigue, that will make it acceptable and delightful everywhere.

Mr. Reed Chunn, of Cincinnati, was here Saturday called by the death of his relative, Mr. Samuel Outten.

ALLEGED TO HAVE SOLD PINT OF WHISKY TO BOY.

Bowling Green — Charley Snell was given the limit by Judge W. O. Rodes on a liquor charge. He was fined $300, sentenced to thirty days in jail and required to give a peace bond of $5,000 in the city court on liquor charges. At the hearing a 17-year-old boy testified that he had sold him a pint of liquor and that he got drunk on it, being arrested by the police.

NON-POOLED WAREHOUSES EXPECT BIG WEEK.

U. of the state, took an active part in the woman's rights campaign.

Mrs. Hubbard was one of the wealthiest women of this city. She was a member of the First Methodist church and a member of the Daughters of Confederacy here. She is survived by one son, Dr. J. M. Hubbard, of Hickman, and two granddaughters, Mrs. Brantly Turpin, of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. W. B. Amberg, of Hickman, and five great-grandchildren.
